

Index

Rather than creating an index comprised of names and events—which would run to well over a hundred pages, given that terms such as “Lincoln” occur over 500 times in these volumes—the following is made up of the headlines from most of the articles. In some instances, this may be a little misleading, given the tendency of period writers to describe their topic in terms that seem odd to us. Generic titles such as “Miscellaneous,” “News Summary,” and “General News” are not included, as these occur throughout the four years of the war and give no hint as to the stories covered. Dates are provided in the form of month-day-year, the last indicated by the final two digits only; thus 03.19.62 is March 19, 1862, &c.
